→ Introducing a friend.

Ladies and Gentlemen, a very good afternoon.
As we're sitting idle waiting for the winter to arrive, I'd like to introduce a very good friend of mine, Mr. Praman Verma.

We had a few common classes last semester and after interacting with him over the past few months, without a doubt I can say that he's a great individual.

As an ambivert, one of his mastered skills is his listening capability — he's a great listener.

In the field of extracurriculars, he's won numerous laurels on basketball, swimming and taekwondo, and takes deep interest in playing chess.

As a human being, he's like a shoulder anybody can rely on.
